Collins Says U. N. Forces Will Stay in Korea

PRESSURE ON 2ND DIVISION IS MOUNTING

Tokyo, Tuesday, Jan. 16—(AP)—American and Allied forces gained up to 12 miles Monday in a sudden offensive on the western Korean front south of Seoul.

Tank-infantry teams by night-fall had recaptured three towns—Osan, Kumyangsang and Chon.

The attack by an army that had been in retreat since late November came only a few hours after Gen. J. Lawton Collins said American forces will stay and fight in Korea.

Collins made his fighting statement during a visit to Korea.

A blazing morning strike by Fifth Air Force fighters and bombers paved the way for the attack.

The U. S. Army chief of staff said troop replacements will begin to flow into Korea in two or three months.

Government Clamps Thirty-Day Ban on Construction of New Commercial Structures

Washington, Jan. 15—(AP)—The government today banned the construction of new stores, restaurants, office and other commercial buildings until Feb. 15.

Thereafter, each private new commercial structure must be specifically authorized by the National Production Authority.

NPA issued the order to save materials for the mobilization program.

Commercial building will be authorized, in general, only if it (1) furthers the defense effort, (2) is essential to public health, welfare or safety; or (3) alleviates or prevents a hardship in a community.

The order applies to new construction "starts" and not to buildings already under way.

During the initial one-month freeze, NPA said it will grant permission "only in emergency cases."

The types of construction regulated include banks, hotels, office and loft buildings, barber and beauty shops, garages, service stations, laundry and dry cleaning establishments, shoe repair and tailoring shops, eating places, printing shops, motels and tourist camps.

Undertaking and cemetery buildings, community and neighborhood structures, facilities for the storage, distribution, sale or display of consumer goods, including all retail stores and shopping centers, are covered by the order, as well as storage warehouses for personal effects.

In the case of a multiple-use building—such as an apartment house with stores or offices—NPA will require authorization for the portion intended for commercial use.

The order does not restrict the building of wholesale food establishments or wholesale supply facilities for fuel oil, gasoline, coal or gas distributing systems and pipelines.

It was made effective as of midnight last Saturday.

Ilse Sentenced To Life Imprisonment

Augsburg, Germany, Jan. 15—(AP)—Ilse Koch was sentenced to life imprisonment today for causing the murder of Buchenwald concentration camp prisoners.

The "Red Witch of Buchenwald," 44 years old, was convicted of crimes against Austrian and German prisoners of the Nazis. The red-haired widow of the camp's wartime Nazi commander was not in court to hear the verdict.

Mrs. Koch broke into a hysterical frenzy in her prison cell last night.

State Capital Takes On Holiday Air For Inauguration Ceremonies Tuesday

Harrisburg, Jan. 15—(AP)—Pennsylvania's state capital took on a holiday air today for the inauguration of governor-elect John S. Fine but cooked a weather eye toward the sky.

The former superior court judge, who was born 57 years ago in a company-owned house on the edge of a coal patch, will take the oath of office tomorrow at noon as the state's 35th chief executive.

An elaborate outdoor stand, seating 2,000 persons, stood ready on the capital plaza as the traditional scene of the inaugural ceremonies.

Before the Fine inauguration, Lt. Gov. Lloyd H. Wood, of Montgomery county, will be inducted into office in the senate chamber. He succeeds Maj. Gen. Daniel R. Strickler, who now is in active military service as commander of the 28th Infantry Division in training at Camp Atterbury, Ind.

The commonwealth's lawmakers came here today from all sections of the state for a pre-inaugural session of the general assembly to get ready for the event.

Both senate and house called brief sessions for late in the day (the senate at 4 p. m., and the house a half hour later) but they were expected to be limited to appointment of committees for the long session ahead.

Chief Justice James B. Drew, of the state supreme court, will administer the oath of office to Fine. Immediately after the oath-taking the new governor will deliver his inaugural address.

A public reception will be held in the rotunda of the capitol after the inauguration. A colorful inaugural ball at the Zumbo Mosque Tuesday night will end the inaugural ceremonies.

Reduction Shown In Appropriation For Flood Control

Washington, Jan. 15—(AP)—President Truman's program for flood control and navigation works in the year beginning July 1 puts the emphasis on projects which "primarily support the national defense."

He recommended today, in his budget message to congress, an appropriation of $624,021,000 for flood control and river-harbor projects, many of them including power features, to be constructed by the army engineers.

Compared with an appropriation last year of $688,564,650, the president's recommendations represent a reduction of more than $44,000,000.

Pennsy Derailment On River Division

Six cars and the caboose of a diesel-drawn local freight train were derailed and about 500 feet of track were torn up on the Pennsylvania Railroad at Althom, along the Allegheny river seven miles west of Irvine, at 9:30 a. m. today. No one was hurt.

One of the six derailed cars tipped over, according to reports.

Engineer Regel reported he was proceeding northbound at the time and spotted a broken rail, but not in time to stop. The diesel unit got by the break and remained on the rails. Guy Rogers was the conductor on the train.

Handcars were used to transport track repair crews to the scene, and a wreck train and crew was summoned. The diesel proceeded to Warren where a new caboose was added, and the train then completed its run.

Philadelphia, Jan. 15—(AP)—An attractive 24-year-old stewardess—only five months in flying service—died on duty yesterday after rescuing 10 passengers from the flaming wreckage of a National Airlines plane in which seven perished.

Survivors of the crash told how the black-eyed hostess from Jacksonville, Fla., opened the cabin door and cautioned them to "take it easy." Then she made repeated rescue trips into the plane until she was swallowed up by the flames.

None of the 21 passengers and crewmen surviving were seriously injured. Most of them suffered bruises in the 10 foot jump from the cabin to the ground. Others were burned about the hands and face.

Pleasant Township Youth Reported As Missing In Action

Mr. and Mrs. G. P. McCullough, Pleasant township, have been advised by Department of Defense officials that their nephew, Sgt. Leon D. Hawley, has been missing in action in Korea since November 28.

Young McCullough attended Warren schools and enlisted for service two years ago. He was serving with the Second Engineers' combat battalion when last heard from.

Mrs. James Conner, Girl Scout executive, has had no further word, she told the Times-Mirror today, concerning her husband, Captain Conner, serving as chaplain with the Army and listed as missing in action since December 21.

Contrary to rumors heard and published over the weekend, Mrs. Conner's only definite word is the Department of Defense telegram which informed her that her husband is listed among the missing. Serving with the 31st Regiment, Seventh Division, Chaplain Conner was last heard from when his outfit was trapped in the north-east sector of Korea. Later, the Seventh Division's remnants are said to have been included in the mass evacuation from Hungnam.

Other area names included in weekend casualty lists from Korea are: Pfc. Carl J. Raup, son of Mrs. Elizabeth C. Raup, Franklin RD 3, and Sgt. James W. Fink, son of Mrs. Gertrude Gathers, Clarion RD 1, listed among the missing; Pfc. Gerald A. Ohmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony G. Ohmer, 2710 Atlantic avenue, Erie, wounded.

FLAMES CONSUME WINDY CITY WAREHOUSE—As hundreds of spectators on a bridge over the Chicago River looked on, above, a fire and explosion destroyed a four-story warehouse of the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Co. in Chicago. Firemen, responding to a 5-11 alarm with three "specials," Chicago's most urgent call, prevented the blaze from spreading to other buildings, but not before a collapsing wall had killed two firemen. Two others, injured in the conflagration were not expected to live and a fifth fireman was reported missing. It was estimated that the damage would total $500,000.

Sheffield Citizen Honored With Family Dinner On Occasion Of 94th Birthday

Sheffield, Jan. 15—Horace Morley, who makes his home with his daughter, Mrs. Grace Miller, Barnes, observed his 94th birthday anniversary at a family dinner yesterday. A resident of Sheffield and vicinity for 62 years, Mr. Morley was born Jan. 13, 1857, in Hancock, N. Y., and came to Sheffield 62 years ago to operate a farm on Austin hill.

His health is reported as excellent and he has been luckier than most this winter in that he has not suffered a cold so far.

Mr. Morley still gardens each summer with his daughter reporting 200 quarts of foodstuffs canned last summer from what he produced in his garden. He also is an avid reader.

Another Sheffielder will also observe her 94th birthday anniversary this week and it is Mrs. Maria Hjelm, who makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. Frank Byrne. Mrs. Hjelm has been very ill the past week with pneumonia. Also a resident of Sheffield 62 years, she came here from Sweden in 1889. She was born Maria Johnson on Jan. 19, 1857.

Mrs. Hjelm listens to her radio regularly and does quite a lot of reading; incidentally, it is done without the aid of glasses.

She has six children, seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

METAL MONSTER MEMORY—Knocked out of action six months ago, the Russian tank, above, is a familiar sight to many UN troops, withdrawing southward, like those in upper left. Scores of Allied soldiers saw blasted tank for the first time under happier conditions. That was when they were in midst of great UN offensive last December. Note irony of chalk-scratched words on tank. Names of Red-retaken North and South Korean capitals—Pyongyang and Seoul—are crossed out and Taegu, a deep southeastern town substituted. Letters to the Editor

Star Route 2,
Sheffield, Pa.
Jan. 12, 1951.

Editor Times-Mirror,
Warren, Pa.

Dear Sir:

I was much impressed by reading in today's issue of your paper, under the heading "Letters to the Editor", the letter signed by Oliver L. Swanson. I think it would be an excellent thing if Mr. Swanson's letter could be reprinted in pamphlet form and circulated in every church congregation in this country.

Some of the conditions existing in our own Washington, D. C. are so shocking and so nearly unbelievable that one hesitates to mention them. I am referring to information released by official figures.

Respectfully
John P. Anderson.

My dear Mr. Editor:

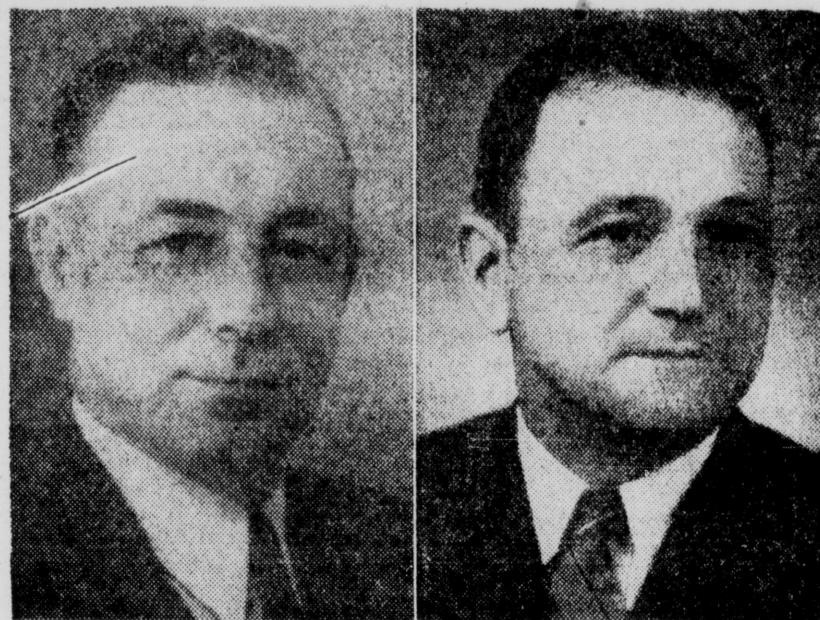

It has come to my attention of some adverse comments that have been made about our local Red Cross Blood Unit.

With this in mind I would like to cite an incident of the past week in which a life was saved because of blood collected here in Warren.

Early last Sunday morning a young mother of two small children was sent to the Warren General Hospital from Chander's Valley. She was admitted in shock, bleeding profusely and close to death's door. She needed an emergency operation, but her blood volume, which normally is six quarts, was close to a quart and a half. Her blood pressure was at such a low force that it was highly dangerous to give her an anesthetic. The patient herself was absolutely unconscious of anything that was going on about her. She was seen by several physicians who advised immediate surgery preceded by a blood transfusion.

This brought into action the highly efficient local hospital laboratory staff, and within two hours the blood was checked, given, an operation performed and the hemorrhage stopped. Within the past week two more transfusions of blood were given, and today, January 13, 1951, the patient walked out of the hospital a well woman. In her words, "I guess that was St. Peter I was talking to last Sunday."

PENELEC ANNOUNCES CHANGE: Retirement of Otto E. Lang, (left) and appointment of William D. Maynard, (right) to succeed him as system operator in the northwestern area have been announced by the Pennsylvania Electric Company. Lang, employed by Penelec and predecessor companies for 37 years, was retired January first on account of disability under terms of the Penelec Retirement Plan. Maynard, with the company for 32 years, has been serving as assistant system operator at Warren. He is a native of Westfield, N. Y., and was initially employed by the Erie Lighting Company in 1918 as an oiler. In 1924 he was made a load dispatcher and held that position until 1948 when he was named assistant system operator in charge of regional load dispatching at the Warren generating station. A veteran of World War I, he served with the U. S. Navy, and is a member of the American Legion. He and his wife, the former Genevieve Page of North East, have been residing in Warren but plan to establish a residence in Erie in the near future.

stepped into the picture, the giving of blood was a much more laborious process, and it is my humble opinion that the greatest medical program that has happened to this community in a decade has been the collection of blood for emergencies.

Inauguration Will Be In Keeping With Pomp Dating Back to the First Governor

Harrisburg—(AP)—John S. Fine becomes Pennsylvania's 35th governor Tuesday in a ceremony replete with all the historic pomp and pageantry dating back to the commonwealth's first chief executive.

Since 1790, when Thomas Mifflin took the oath of office as the first governor, the backdrop for the change of state administrations has varied with the mood of the times.

The ceremonies have been streamlined since the wartime inaugural of Edward Martin in 1943 but officials say there will be nothing lacking in the way of dignity and auspiciousness on Tuesday.

Cost of the physical facilities for the event will run between $8,000 and $9,000. These figures cover erection of a stand for officials involved.

Fine's inaugural address will be preceded by music and fanfare and administration of the oath by Chief Justice James B. Drew. A military escort will guide the incoming governor to the scene.

The governor and Mrs. Fine will lead the grand march Tuesday night at the inaugural ball, where thousands of dancers in evening dress and military costume are expected to sorely tax the capacity of Harrisburg's Zumbo Mosque.

Previous inauguration days have not only provided historians with "signs of the times" in Pennsylvania but have left their individual mark in forming the tradition and protocol which will be so evident Tuesday.

Thomas Mifflin's inauguration in 1790 was simple. The simplicity was dictated by the log cabin stage of the commonwealth's development. Philadelphia was a center of commercial wealth but the remainder of the state was still industrially and agriculturally in a cocoon.

Gradually the industrial revolution touched the interior and by 1817 when William Findlay took office a more grandiose ceremony replaced the plainer ones of the past.

One writer of that era, noting the change in the backdrop, commented: "Some of our fellow citizens seem to be acquiring a relish for royal spectacle and magnificent fetes."

The first outdoor inaugural was held in 1855 when James Pollock of Northumberland county took over the state's reins. The outdoor ceremony has prevailed since—except for times of inclement weather.

Pollock's inauguration seemed to be the beginning of a third era which emphasized a greater degree of pageantry. The Civil War was not far away but conditions in the Keystone state in the pre-war period represented the prosperity of the northeast.

From this starting point the ceremony continued to pick up in size and splendor and reached the turn of the century holding the spotlight as the number one social event quadrennially.

One of the biggest ceremonies during this period was the inauguration of John F. Hartranft of Montgomery county in 1873.

In 1935 the Democrats came to Harrisburg to assume control of the state capitol for the first time in 50 years. George H. Earle was the incoming governor, Gifford H. Pinchot the retiring incumbent.

A raucous voice almost stopped the show by crying "so long Giffy" to Pinchot, who had served two terms as head of the commonwealth.

Earle's inauguration was also marked with splendor and pageantry. The Democrats let it be known that they were very happy, to say the least, over driving the Republicans from the capitol for the first time in half a century.

In turn the Republicans had an opportunity to celebrate in 1939 when Arthur H. James carried the GOP to victory. GOP adherents from all over the state came and paraded as the new governor rode to the ceremony in the traditional horse-drawn phaeton.

But that was the last of the big celebrations. In 1943, Edward Martin, succeeding James, specifically requested that the ceremony be simple. It was just that in comparison with some of the others, even a bit austere. This started a fourth trend in inaugurations, a trend which has held true up to this inauguration.

THE HOPE MR. TRUMAN HOLDS OUT

No one questions the need for this country to prepare for war, if war becomes necessary, or to make sacrifices to get defenses built.

And the people have been told that a lot of things they used to buy will disappear as more of the materials which went into them go into tanks and planes.

But this question, asked by James Marlow, Associated Press feature writer in Washington, has been in the minds of many for a long time:

"How is it going to be in the years ahead? Will it all be downhill, with the defense program going on indefinitely and goods getting scarcer and scarcer?"

President Truman hasn't predicted how long the defense program will be necessary but in his economic message he held out this hope:

After a few years—if there's no war—a lot of the scarce or disappearing consumer goods may be back on the market, even with a big defense program operating.

In that section of his message which dealt with wages, Mr. Truman said:

The predominant general rule should be to achieve stable wage rates until the flow of consumer goods can be increased."

It was a significant statement. He didn't elaborate on it. But government economists explain it this way:

Right now this country has a hurry-up job of building defenses. And it still will be a hurry-up job for the next several years.

This means a lot of materials, like copper and steel, which have been going into consumer goods like radios or cars or refrigerators will have to go into tanks and planes.

So, as the months pass and the factories turn more and more to defense production, there'll be less consumer goods, although the government still will try to see that essential civilian needs are filled.

But the plants not only will be turning out defense items but will be expanding on, as the economists say, increasing their capacity to produce.

DEATH STALKS OUR STREETS

Since 1900, when the motor car was merely an annoyance to horses, nearly 964,000 men, women and children have died in traffic accidents in this country.

Either this year or early next year, the one-millionth automobile fatality will occur. Thus more people have died on our highways and streets in 50 years than all the wars we have fought.

The traffic toll in this span is greater than the population of Cleveland, or Washington.

The accident picture actually is gloomier even than these figures suggest. For the fatality rate has been going upward at a pretty steady pace, except during the gasoline famine in World War II.

The Association of Casualty and Surety Companies, looking ahead, estimates that the second million of traffic deaths will be compiled in 30 years rather than 50. Last year the total was 35,000, one of the highest on record. The outlook is for almost as many fatalities in 1951.

Isn't it time we dispensed with half-hearted measures and really got down to cases in facing this terrible toll?

We're getting pretty callous about money matters in this day of 50-cent hamburgers and $7 shirts. The other day nobody paid any attention to President Truman's reminder that a B-36 bomber costs $3,500,000, against the $275,000 it took to buy a B-17 in World War II. There was a time when $3,500,000 would erect a fair-sized office building. As for today, well, what's $3,500,000 among friends?

Your attention is directed to a communication signed "Member of Warren General Hospital Medical Staff" printed under the heading "Letter to the Editor" in another column of this issue, which should be carefully perused by every reader interested in the health and welfare of fellow beings.

A federal budget calling for about $71,600,000,000—most of it to arm against Communist aggression—and for a whopping tax boost of almost $16,500,000,000, was submitted to congress today by President Truman. Blue Monday!

Here And There

It is with pleasure we acknowledge a letter accompanying two interesting booklets, one titled "Tudor City View" and the other "Tudor City View" received from Lawrence M. Knapp, brother of Mrs. Raymond Lowe, this city, a Warren native, making good in a commendable manner in "the big city" whom we had the pleasure of meeting and visiting with on the occasion of a trip to Gotham in 1949 to attend the World Series. The letter in part follows:

"Apt. 1322-Tudor Tower, 25 Tudor City Place, New York, 17, N. Y. — Read with interest the account of the moving into the UN building in the Warren Times-Mirror and thought you would be interested in our 'Tudor City View,' which describes and illustrates the changes to Tudor City, which is next door to the UN, to make a grand approach from East 42 street to the UN. I am purchasing agent for the Fred F. French Company which owns and controls Tudor City and other apartment and office buildings and also my wife and I live in Tudor Tower, where for the past two years we have had to live with the din and noise of the construction of UN and now have to bear the changes in 42 street. My wife, who is a native born New Yorker, and I, who have resided here since January, 1925, certainly enjoy reading the Warren Times-Mirror from front to back and look forward to each issue. With kindest regards and best wishes, believe me, Sincerely yours, Lawrence M. Knapp."

One of the busiest places in the community right now is "The Warren Service Center," 404 Market street, too often referred to as "Red Cross Headquarters". It should be remembered that while the Red Cross is an active organization functioning in the building, it is only one of five, the others being, Warren County Cancer Society, Warren County Council Girl Scouts of America, The Children's Aid Society and the Warren Relief Association. In addition to these the small structure in the rear, originally erected as a playhouse, has been altered, refurbished and equipped so that now it makes an ideal place to center Girl Scout Troop activities. In the future, as suggested by an interested reader and subscriber, we're going to refer to the above-mentioned organizations as meeting in "The Warren Service Center!"

This And That: J. V. Frampton, of Oil City, was elected chief rabbi of Zim Temple of Erie. Wednesday evening at the organization's annual meeting held in Erie with a large number from Warren in attendance; Jim McKnight, of Erie, formerly manager of the Personal Finance office in Warren, was elected high priest and prophet. . . . Birthday greetings to Charlie Till, veteran merchant, H. L. Greenlund and "Doc" M. L. Jordan, all blowing candles tomorrow. . . . Pvt. Robert L. Paul, 19-year-old Kane boy, listed as missing in action in Korea, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Paul, of Kane, the former being an employee of the Pennsylvania Gas Company at Ludlow, while Mrs. Paul works at the Olympic Luggage Company in Kane. . . . According to the Kiwanis Bulletin for this week "A number of persons have commented on the likeness of Far's (Harrington) smiling countenance Times-Mirror 1-11-51) to that of Senator Taft of Ohio. And by the same token, both of them have been accorded the opportunity to do a whale of a job in 1951."

A demonstration of modern speed was described in "The Bird" column of the Kane Republican last week, referring to a trip made to Philadelphia by the Rev. Sherman Epier, well known throughout the area as an outstanding minister as well as magician of considerable ability. It says: "Flying to Philadelphia, where his brother-in-law died, the Rev. Sherman Epier encountered some little confusion. He wasn't certain he could catch a plane from Mt. Alto but he did. The arrangements were for Mrs. Epier to call the family in Philadelphia as soon as she returned from the Mt. Alto airport and she did, but it was too late. The plane had already arrived in Philadelphia before the family had time to get to the city airport to meet the Kane pastor. That's fast traveling." . . . Aetia has already been started in this and other communities to limit the weeks of Daylight Saving Time to the school vacation, and as usual, meeting with considerable opposition on the part of those in favor of the longer period. . . . Twenty-two years ago today the Kellogg Peace pact was ratified by the United States, and two months from today that income tax report will have to be in the mails.

We're Off to Head Start In Many Defense Needs

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—U. S. mobilization problems today are far different from what they were in 1940-41, says Assistant Secretary of Defense W. J. McNell, comptroller for the armed services. This is one of the main reasons why Department of Defense has not moved faster in its demands for cut-backs on the civilian economy and all-out mobilization. Here are some of the main differences cited:

In the first place, the United States does not have a big shipbuilding program. At the beginning of World War II, the United States didn't even have any shipyards. Today all Navy shipyards have been expanded. Private yards are begging for business and are capable of easy expansion in case of need.

In the motorboat fleets are both merchant freighters and fighting ships. To build these fleets took millions of tons of steel and other scarce metals at the beginning of the last war. That doesn't have to be duplicated this time. So the demands on steel capacity will not be so great. And there is greater steel production available.

As fighting ships are taken out of motorboats and put into active service, some modification will be necessary. This is principally installing new electronics equipment—radar and communications devices developed since the last war.

DESTROYERS are still good with some similar modernization. Super destroyers now being developed will be the models for new construction and delivery about 1955.

New submarine development is top secret. An atomic-powered engine is still some years away. But old subs are being streamlined and converted to the Guppy type, with snorkel, to increase their speed.

"In World War II, the greatest consumer of military and naval equipment was the Atlantic Ocean," Secretary McNell points out. Production schedules had to be stepped up then to replace what was sunk by submarines. That isn't necessary—yet.

For the Army, a big military camp construction program is not necessary, as it was in 1941. That cuts down requirements for materials, men and money in today's mobilization.

There is said to be an ample supply of basic equipment—rifles and .30-cal. ammunition, 105 and 155-mm. howitzers for the artillery, mess kits, packs and so on.

The big shortages are in the new weapons. There aren't enough tanks. There aren't enough of the new 3.5-inch bazookas and shaped charges. Rocket supplies are inadequate.

In the air, the United States had to start from scratch in 1940. Today the Air Force has the biggest and best bombers in being and in production. Jet aircraft fighter production is in such condition that these planes are now being supplied to National Guard units.

OF THE $10,000,000,000 of new procurement authorized by Congress on Sept. 27 for this year is spending, over $9,000,000,000 worth of contracts have been let. For the $8,000,000,000 new procurement authorized in the supplemental appropriation bill just signed by the President, contracts have been prepared and two-thirds of them will be let by Feb. 1.

It is on the scheduling of new procurement that there is major controversy in Washington. It would be a help in making these plans if anyone could know whether there will be a third world war, and if so, when it will begin.

One group of executives believes that plans should be based on the assumption that war might come by say July 1, 1951. For this schedule, all civilian production would have to be drastically curtailed and industry converted to all-out war production immediately.

The other school of thought in Washington is that the present crisis will be a long haul. To prepare for it there should be a gradual build-up of productive capacity that could meet any emergency without too great a strain on the economy and no severe shocks of conversion and reconversion.

STUFFED baked potatoes take on extra nutrition at little cost if you add non-fat dry milk. This is milk with fat and water removed and contains the important milk nutrients—protein, calcium, riboflavin and lactose. Your grocer has it in one-pound packages.

Shepherd Potatoes (Makes 6 servings)

Six medium baking potatoes, washed and dried, 6 tablespoons melted butter, 1 teaspoon salt, about 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 4 tablespoons non-fat dry milk, 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion, 1/4 cup hot water, about 1 1/2 cups finely chopped leftover cooked meat.

Rub potatoes with fat. Bake in oven (450 Deg. F.) until done, about 50 to 60 minutes. Remove from oven. Cut a slice off the top of each potato. Scoop out potatoes, saving shells.

Mash potatoes. Beat in 5 table-

Remember, Girls, 'Forever' May Be a Long, Long Time

ONE of the more famous young movie stars, recently married for the second time, told the world: "Our honeymoon will last forever."

It is sad enough when a first-time bride goes into marriage with that notion in her pretty little head. But for a girl who has one divorce behind her to have such a foolishly romantic notion of marriage is downright tragic.

Because no honeymoon is going to last forever. And the bride who figures hers will be in for a rude awakening.

She also probably isn't going to make a very good wife, no matter how often she switches marriage partners.

For when the honeymoon settles down to real marriage the bride who thought her married life was going to be one "forever" is pretty likely to turn against her husband.

REALITY WILL SHOCK ROMANTICISM

BECAUSE he stops treating her like a queen, she thinks he has stopped loving her. Because he picks up his old life pretty much as it was before, she thinks he is being neglectful.

If he doesn't praise her continually, then he is unappreciative. If his job is his main interest in life, he is a dull clod and she wonders why in the world she ever thought he was romantic.

If he is socially inclined she thinks he should continue to find all the companionship he needs with her.

And so it goes. Marriage is no honeymoon—but lots of disillusioned wives think their marriages are failures and their husbands are impossible to live with just because the honeymoon doesn't last forever.

The way to start a marriage right is to say "Our marriage will last forever"—not "Our marriage will be one long honeymoon."

Read How Women by the Thousands Report Benefit from This Amazing Medicine

So many women between the ages of 38 and 52 have good reason to hate change of life—the time when fertility ebbs away—when embarrassing symptoms of this nature may betray their age!

If this functional period makes you suffer from hot flushes or makes you feel so weak, nervous, restless, hard to live and work with—try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms. Pinkham's Compound gives simply wonderful relief. Taken regularly (tastes swell in a little fruit juice), it helps build up resistance against such middle-age distress.

Women by the thousands have reported remarkable benefits from the use of Pinkham's Compound. No other medicine of this type for women has such a long record of success and use!

If functional monthly ailments cause you painful distress at such times and also nervous feelings a few days before your period, try Pinkham's Compound to relieve such symptoms. Pinkham's Compound brings wonderful relief because it works through a woman's sympathetic nervous system. Regular use helps build up resistance against such distress.

Lydia Pinkham, the founder of this amazing medicine, was a firm believer in Nature and what it could do for women. Subsequent years proved her correct in her belief—in fact she was a contributor to modern medical knowledge far ahead of her time. DON'T FAIL TO TRY HER REMARKABLE MEDICINE!

Legion Tide Of Toys Overwhelming Success

The Tide of Toys campaign in Warren went way over the top Friday when pupils of all grade schools, Beaty Junior high school and St. Joseph's parochial school contributed over 3000 toys to be sent to children all over the world through CARE.

The American Legion committee, headed by Jack Barr, consisted of Bill Brown, Bob Gregerson, Dick Wickstrom, Milt Dahler, Tom Conway, John Newmaker, Harry Spidel, George Bostob, Louis Vizza and Bill Lundahl. Six of

In mapping the campaign, the Legionnaires hoped to get 15 barrels of toys, and were overwhelmed with the response in which a total of 21 large barrels were packed for shipment to Philadelphia. The toys were of every size and shape, most of them new. There were scooters, dolls, wagons, baseball bats, gloves, a windup train complete with track and four freight cars, puzzles, books, cars, toy stoves, dishes, irons and games—all of them treasured by their former owners.

Committee Chairman Jack Barr extended his thanks to all who helped make the Toy Drive a success. He especially mentioned the Times-Mirror and WNAE for their efforts in publicizing the drive, and the Walker Creamery Products Co., the Tasty Bakery and the Sylvania Electric Products Co. for their help in hauling and packaging the toys.

Warren Man Faces Charges Of Assault

Peter Mangini, of Frank street, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Tracy M. Greenlund Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, charged with aggravated assault and battery to which he entered a plea of innocent and demanded a hearing.

Justice Greenlund demanded $500 bail and set the hearing for Friday, January 26, at 4 p. m.

The charge grew out of an alleged assault on Kenneth Fox, City Lines bus driver, following an accident on Pennsylvania avenue, west, near the G. G. Greene plant Friday morning. Following the minor collision between the bus and Mangini's car, Mangini is alleged to have struck Fox on the nose, breaking the nose in seven places and causing Fox to be hospitalized for treatment.

Fox was admitted at Warren General Hospital Friday and is still a patient in that institution.

Volunteers Must Do So Through Their Local Boards

Washington, Jan. 15.—(AP)—President Truman today directed that all youths volunteering for the armed services must do so through their local draft boards.

Under his order, the volunteer must file an application with his board for voluntary induction. This is required whether or not the volunteer has been registered.

If a registrant is unable to return to his local board to volunteer, he may file application with the local board in the area where he may be residing at the time of his decision.

Under the regulations, a man filing for voluntary induction will be classified as soon as possible and placed in the class available for military service if he qualifies.

A man not required to be registered for induction who volunteers will be registered and given a selective service number in the same manner as those required to register.

The White House made public Mr. Truman's order without any immediate explanatory statement. It was not clear whether it would leave the volunteer free to enter the service of his choice.

Mass Production Of Atomic Bombs

Washington, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Atomic bombs may be going into something like mass production, President Truman hinted in his budget message to congress today.

In a section covering the Atomic Energy Commission, Mr. Truman said that in the fiscal year beginning next July 1 extensive work will be carried on in development of new and improved weapons and in what he called: "Industrial-type production of weapons of the latest approved design."

He did not elaborate his reference to turning out weapons in the manner industry produces other items. However, he commented that "the very substantial increases appropriated for the atomic energy program in (this) fiscal year 1951 will provide for enlargement of production capacity for atomic materials and weapons."

FREE MEALS TO AID POLIO FUND DRIVE

Oil City, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Proprietors of a local restaurant will provide meals on the house for the entire day tomorrow to aid the march of dimes drive.

Gavin Reappointed On An Important House Committee

Rep. Leon H. Gavin, of Oil City, congressman from this district, has been reappointed a member of the important Armed Services committee in the house of representatives, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington, which says that Pennsylvanians will serve on 18 of the 19 committees in the house during the 82nd congress. Rep. Carroll D. Kearns, of Mercer, has also been reappointed to this group.

In the senate, Senator Martin (R-Pa.) will serve on the finance and public works committees, the Republican policy committee and the Republican personnel (patronage) committee.

Senator-Elect Duff (R-Pa.), who will not take his oath until next Thursday, had seats reserved for him on the District of Columbia and Post Office-Civil Service committees.

The only committee on which a Pennsylvanian will not be represented in the house is the rules committee.

WHY YOU SHOULD OWN INVESTMENT SHARES??

Well managed Mutual Investment Funds holding a good amount of common stocks should help you meet the rise in living costs. If living costs should continue to rise, you will probably need a larger "nest egg" when you retire. While stocks and dividends may sometimes decline in the face of rising living costs for short periods, the long term-trend of both living costs and high-grade stocks in this country has been upward for the past 50 years.

When you own Mutual Investment Funds you have, in effect, a personal investment account for yourself and family under experienced management. Such full-time supervision should give you better long-term results for your money than if you selected a few individual securities. Mutual Investment Funds can help you accumulate a "nest egg" for a "rainy day" or for your old age.

Visit our offices . . . call or ask for information regarding Mutual Investment Funds . . . no obligation.
